To whom it may concern,

The Moving Man

UIC (Ukpeagvik Inupiat Corporation) and our family of companies have employed the services of The Moving Man periodically since March of 2005. During which time they have provided our businesses with excellent support in the areas of moving consultation and moving and office system configuration services which have always exceeded our expectations. Their responsiveness and ability to handle our business needs with little to no lead time, and to accommodate the critical issues of packaging and relocating entire companies, let alone individual offices, has been crucial in our ability to streamline our business units with minimal disruption.

We have found the management and employee team at The Moving Man to be extremely knowledgeable, courteous, attentive to detail, and committed to providing quality services at very reasonable rates. The "roll up the sleeves" can-do attitude of their field staff and the professionalism at which it is provided is second to none.

When we have had a need for a moving service provider we have called on The Moving Man, and we look forward to a continued relationship as we have similar needs in the future. I can confidently recommend The Moving Man as a solid and reliable supplier of moving consultation and moving services.

Sincerely,
